Re: Allen Brink

I have had the honour and pleasure of working with Allen Brink for over 30 years. I believe that we first met in 1990 when I was with the North of England P & I Club and responsible for handling the coal fire on board the vessel Avala. I then continued to work with Allen when I moved to Clifford Chance appointing him as the GA Surveyor in relation to the grounding of the Sealand Express in Cape Town in August 2003.

Throughout that time I have regularly worked with Allen and have no hesitation whatsoever in stating that he is one of the most skilful and experienced marine consultants and surveyors that I have ever worked with. He is effectively right at the top of my casualty emergency list for when I really need someone that I can rely on. I know that a number of my Partners and colleagues at Ince feel exactly the same way.

Looking forward to the next 20 years.
